

Capture consent to standard terms with a single click.

As your business grows, so does the complexity of documenting and managing customer consent in standard agreements - such as terms & conditions, privacy policies, disclosures and more. Today's limited clickwrap options offer a poor user experience, little to no agreement evidence and inadequate functionality. As a result, you could face legal disputes and unnecessary risk over enforceability. Not to mention it is incredibly expensive and difficult to maintain if you choose to build your own homegrown solution.

DocuSign Click is an easy-to-use, simple-to-deploy clickwrap solution that lets you capture customer consent to standard terms with a single click, lowering costs and risk, while improving the customer experience.

- Reduce the risk of non-compliance with ESIGN, eIDAS, and other legal standards.
- Simplify the customer experience with clear display and acceptance options.
- Streamline development and maintenance with DocuSign's out of the box solution.
- Securely and centrally store, search, and manage clickwraps with a complete audit trail.

What is Clickwrap?

“Clickwrap” refers to a simple method for indicating consent to a set of terms by clicking on “I agree” or a similar process. A clickwrap agreement holds the same legal effect as a wet signature under the laws of the US, EU, and certain other countries for the vast majority of use cases.

When properly implemented and maintained, clickwrap can be a highly efficient and effective legal agreement methodology, particularly for online transactions and applications.
